

NATALI BLUGERMAN

Through my installations and performances I create spaces where the audience can have strong experiences of aspects of the universe we are part of. Awareness, Consciousness and Rawness are some of the key words in my work. I am very mindful about the materials I use to create the environments and try to utilize as little as possible in order to have a very clean and intense awareness shifting experience. For the last two years I've been working with natural and artificial light creating Observatories with the aim to unlearn the boundaries of vision and be able to see more than what we are used to see. To expand the connection between "the outside and the inside" is one of my main goals.----- My aim is to expand our notion of ourselves in order to break the boundaries of what we think we are and open ourselves to new possibilities. My main tools for this are natural elements, materials and phenomena. The deconstruction of images in light, darkness and the mind has been an endless vessel of fascination for me since 2014.
