GABRIELA ACHA

What and why should be remembered?

My name is Gabriela Acha, I am an Argentine visual artist based in the Netherlands for the past eight years. I hold a degree in Visual Arts from the National University of Córdoba, with a specialization in sculpture, and I have been involved in an interdisciplinary research and production group that bridge visual arts and natural sciences. Expedición is the name of the group where we conducted artistic and scientific expeditions in natural reserves, blending art, science and nature. My work is deeply rooted in the exploration of how we, as humans, relate to nature, both as a subject of study and as a source of inspiration. Growing up as a fossil and mineral collector, I developed a profound interest in museums and the narratives they create, reflecting societal values and collective memory. This interest in diverse voices and overlooked narratives is a central theme in my practice. To give life to these ideas, I created the Mobile Museum, an evolving, performative space that collaborates with public and private collections, as well as other artists. The Mobile Museum focuses on giving visibility to the work of women and minorities, aiming to enrich the dialogue between personal and collective memory, and to bring forward stories that have been marginalized in the official narratives. My artistic practice is diverse: I work in sculpture, painting, and drawing, photo, often integrating text, singing and storytelling, especially in the Mobile Museum, where dialogue is key. Currently, I am developing a process supported by the Municipality of The Hague on a project that investigates historical women artists who made significant contributions to the field of visual arts and women's rights in The Hague and in The Netherlands. In essence, my art explores and connects different layers of knowledge, memory, and identity, making this complexity accessible and meaningful for diverse audiences.

2025 Biennale Maestro di Monopoli Chiesa di San Salvatore Monopoli, Italië Argentine artist Gabriela Acha was recognized with the Maestro Biennale di Monopoli 2025 Award (Italy) for her project Espacio Exhibitivo Móvil (Mobile Exhibition Space), a performance-installation that reflects on memory and the representation of women in science and the arts. In Espacio Exhibitivo Móvil, Gabriela presented works by Argentine artists Silvana Montecchiesi (illustration – Datura Ferox) and Paula Roqué Buguñá (illustration – Untitled). The award was granted by the Biennale directors, Davide Coccoza and Luca Oscuro, in June 2025. Espacio Exhibitivo Móvil is both a performative piece and a nomadic installation. The artist walks carrying showcase-backpacks on her back, transformed into a mobile museum that exhibits works by women artists and scientists. During the performance, the audience can approach, observe the display cases, and interact directly with the artist or with performers, generating a dialogic, living, and intimate experience. The origin of the project is linked to Gabriela Acha's personal history as a collector of fossils and minerals since childhood. Following research at the National Museum of Natural History of Uruguay, where she discovered the overlooked legacy of Catalina Beaulieu —a woman who collected key specimens for that institution—, the project adopted a critical perspective on the representation of women in science, art, and museums. "The museum I propose is a walking, living museum that comes into direct contact with people. It is a way of disseminating memories and knowledge that belong to women in science and the arts." en.achagabriela.com/2025

2024 A powerful Source Pulchri studio The Hague, Nederland A Powerful Source, a solo exhibition by artist Gabriela Acha presented at Pulchri Studio, is articulated as a multifocal exploration of the concept of aura, understood not only as an aesthetic quality but also as a historical, religious, and epistemological phenomenon. The exhibition unfolds a web of perspectives that converse with one another, proposing an expanded reading of what we commonly associate with presence, energy, and the authenticity of an artwork. From the religious and devotional sphere, Acha investigates the symbolic construction of the aura as it relates to faith (Artist's Relic series). In parallel, a more poetic–artistic line traces sensitive approaches in which the aura manifests materially (Livistona and Monte-stone series). The artist also incorporates a critical reflection from within the field of art, revisiting Walter Benjamin's well-known notion of the aura. Finally, a scientific, rigorous, and experimental perspective introduces methods drawn from nature and electronics to examine how certain material or symbolic "emanations" are constructed, measured, or detected, shifting the idea of aura toward hybrid territories (Fulgurite and Aura series). en.achagabriela.com/general-1

2021 The Roaring Twenties Pulchri Studio The Hague, Nederland The 1920s were a period of major changes in many areas. In the period between the two world wars, crises were accompanied by reconstruction and increasing (urban) prosperity. The roaring (or flashy) twenties were characterized by lightning-fast developments in material, political and moral areas; the rise of mass culture, consumerism, jazz music and the glitz and glamor of Hollywood. Or what about the emancipation of women and art movements such as Dada, Surrealism, Expressionism and Art Deco. Or races and record attempts such as Charles Lindbergh's first solo flight across the Atlantic in 1927. The roaring twenties have also been described as a period of freedom and the beginning of the 'modern age'. Now, mid-2021, the end of the corona time is in sight. People have been limited in their activities for a year and a half and have saved tens of billions extra. When restrictions are lifted, there may be another period of bubbling like 100 years ago. We want to enjoy again, especially now that we know what it's like to be in a lockdown. The money will start rolling again. Hopefully there will be years of economic growth again, but more controlled than before the corona crisis. Life will be different in the coming years. A different governance style, greater emphasis on the environment and sustainability, greater understanding of inclusiveness, equality and mutual responsibility. And who knows, maybe we'll get a modern-day Charles Lindbergh going to Mars, for example. In any case, let's hope that art and culture will finally get the support and attention they deserve again. www.pulchri.nl/nl/tentoonstellingen/the-roaring-twenties/

2020 n Imaginary Anthropological Museum Villa Romana Florence, Frankrijk MOBILE EXHIBITION SPACE - October 2020 Villa Romana, Florence, Italy. In the frame of MAI. Museo Antropologico Immaginario curated by Valeria D'Ambrosio with the participation of Marcela Moraga and Gian Piero Frascinelli. Through the performance I explored the possibility of a dialogic, active and mobile museum. The Mobile exhibition space is feminist and decolonial. It criticizes the western museum as a colonial white and patriarchal institution. In this case, together with Master students of the University of Anthropology of Florence we reflected about the Museums of Anthropology building up a space-action of ephemeral existence where the presented pieces belong to live communities. We connected the pieces with the current context and problematics of the ethnic groups of precedence of the objects (Aymara, Guaraní and Mapuche, from South America), and the fight for their rights. We also reflected about how subaltern practices resist westernization. The exhibited pieces are crafts acquired by Oretta and Gian Piero Frascinelli, acquired beteween 1969 and 1973 in South America.
