

ALEXANDER KÖPPEL

Alexander Köppel is an artist, sound producer and spatial designer based in The Netherlands. He engages in multiple disciplines - often in collaboration - researching human perception, the practice and modalities of listening and guiding (into) acts of attention. Alexander composes with multiple sensory agents to create spatial scenes that invite the audience to be with what is present, to be sincere with their senses. Manipulated field recordings, distinct spatiality and textural sounds often form the basis of his musical work. By speculating on memory, interiority, landscapes and repetition, Alexander aims at stirring up the listener's imaginary.

2023	silencio vol.3 - unexplained iso amsterdam Amsterdam, Nederland How does our view of art change if we use different ways of explanation? Silencio vol.3 is an artistic experiment that challenges the role of explanation in art. Shown work: SONDER in collaboration with Maarten Keus and Inga Hirsch www.silencio.ooo/vol3	installation, breaking different kinds of light in spectacular ways onto the audience. Accompanied by a paired score borrowing from field recording, techno and noise, the piece is played almost as an instrument, apparatus, a sculpture come alive. The work explores individualism and collectiveness; it spans a dynamic range which gives time and care to small details as well as overwhelming gestures. The audience is invited into states of introspection, wondering, chrysalism and a sense of sonder. Sonder is a first collaborative piece by the artist group MIA (Maarten Keus, Inga Hirsch and Alexander Köppel). Originally created for Traumburg festival 2023, SONDER is now in further development.

A scene exploring the qualities of its space and different modes of relating. The piece invites to explore the edges of one's perception. It creates a time and a space in which affects can be embraced as they occur. BA.102 brings you to where you can tap into the more granular areas of your attention, listening and presence. [This project and its development became somewhat of a blueprint for a series of compositions I am planning to do in the future - different spaces, different alterations will keep shaping the underlaying ideas of the piece and what it can become for an audience.]

The installation attempts to blur the physical boundaries of the container, playing with resonant frequencies of the space and its tactile responses. IMT 553 invites listeners to explore the lush, textured composition challenging its confined metal home.

2022	Have we met? Nederlandse pavilioen op

	de Triennale in Milan Milan, Italië Have we met? promotes new ways of understanding the Earth as a shared space for plants, microbes, humans, and other animals. The view that earth exists solely for human exploitation must be radically rethought in order to confront the environmental crises the planet is facing today. The exhibition therefore explores what attitudes, organisational tools and technologies are necessary to recalibrate the relationship between humans and non-humans. 2021		FINSTER Utrecht, Nederland FINSTER (- Dark [German] - syn.: sinister, gloomy, obfuscated) is a site specific installation transforming one of the cells in the old PBC for Uncloud 2021 into a multi sensory spatial scene. It combines subjects of architecture, culture and perception. The work embeds all surfaces of the cell in black fabric, creating a second skin, a delusive cover, which leaves the visual subordinate to olfactory, tactile and sonic stimuli. FINSTER draws parallels to spaces which seem the farthest away from our current possibilities of unforeseen encounters - with others or oneself - where the unknown (also) makes space for excitement and freedom. The installation aims to counteract the obvious prison cell, seeking to evoke feelings of insideness and otherness and offers a place to dwell in.

INTERNATIONALE UITWISSELINGEN / ARTIST-IN-RESIDENCIES

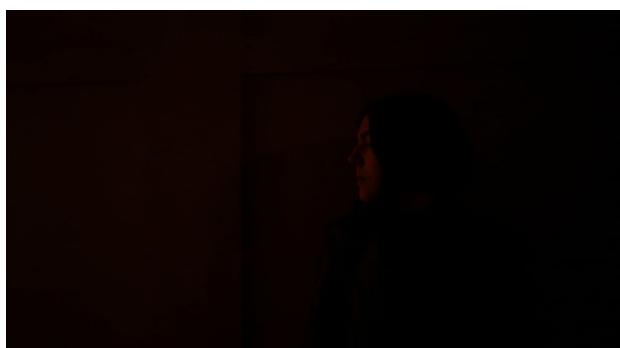

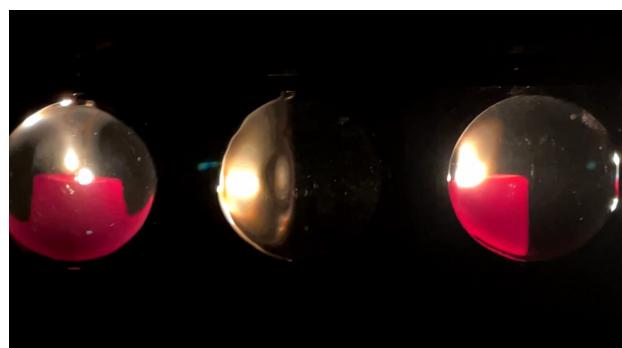

2017 4DSOUND - Spatial Sound Institute
Budapest Budapest, Hongarije Na mijn eerste studie deed ik een residency en liep stage (technisch assistent) bij 4DSOUND om dieper in te duiken in de verbinding van geluid en ruimte. Ik heb daar ontzettend veel kunnen leren, ontwikkelen en ook mijn live performance debut durven geven. De tijd bij het SSI was heel erg belangrijk voor me. Vandaag kijk ik erop terug als een van de startpunten in mijn onderzoek over geluid, ruimte, menselijke waarneming, luisteren en sfeer.
